It is believed that pandas are nice animals, but like bears they are dangerous. Panda is in the Red List of endangered animals. About 1600 of them are in the nature, especially in central China. More than 300 pandas live in zoos around the world. A wild panda spends much of its day resting, eating, and seeking food. Its food is almost always bamboo. Pandas eat up to 14 hours a day and can eat up to 38 kg of bamboo.

Hopelessly, the forests in China are becoming smaller and smaller, and pandas may not be able to find food easily. The number of people is increasing and they are building homes by destroying the forests where pandas live. So, they live in very small groups in small forests.

There are some plans to help pandas like making small forests larger by changing the farmlands into forests. This means that it will be hard to save pandas if people don't help.

33/ Why do pandas live in small groups?

34/ How does a wild panda spend its day?

35/ The underlined word 'hopelessly' is the opposite of ..... in meaning. ( sadly, unfortunately, luckily, unhappily )

36/ The underlined word 'increasing' is closest in meaning to ..... . ( growing, planning, carrying, checking )

True/False

37/ Pandas can only be found in China's zoos. ....

38/ If people help change the farms into forest, pandas will be saved. ....
